| Law Enforcement / Domestic Violence Senator Ron Wyden met with more than a dozen community leaders about violence in Jackson and Josephine Counties. He took notes from advocates, police and prosecutors on the importance of the violence against women act. It's a bill he's trying to extend which provides resources and services to victims in our area. The bill provides about 5 hundred thousand dollars split among a number of agencies in our area. It particularly helps in connecting advocates with victims in rural areas. | Domestic Violence | News | 7/3/2012 | 5p, 6p, 11p, 5a, 6a, 12p | 11 |
| Jackson County / City Government July starts the new fiscal year for city budgets. The City of Ashland's budget is $102 million. To make budget, the city had to raise water and sewage rates, a 12% increase for water and 10% for sewage. No other rates were raised and the city didn't even have to use all of it's property tax income. But still the budget was a challenge for the city has been working on it since February. The City of Jacksonville also adopted it's budget. The city says it came together with no problems and no rate increases. Meanwhile, the City of Gold Hill had more of a struggle. The money it had to work with isn't increasing, but everything else is. To meet it's budget, the city had to increase it's water and sewage rates. | City Budgets | News | 7/3/2012 | 5p, 6p, 11p, 5a, 6a | 5 |

| Timber / Endangered Species Oregon officials have suspended 10% of upcoming timber sales. They've suspended about 800 acres of state land as they prepare for a legal fight with conservation groups over a rare seabird. The battle is whether the state's logging goals illegally harm the habitat of the threatened marbled murrelet. The bird is protected under the endangered species act. It lays it's eggs on the large, mossy branches of mature and old growth trees. | Timber Sales | News | 7/3/2012 | 5a, 6a | 2 |
| Recreation / Sports A local baseball organization working to bring all-star athletes to the valley. The Medford baseball association says it's a home run for everyone. One of the top amateur leagues in the country plans on starting a college team in Medford. Organizers say it will help bring money into the area and jump start some improvements on one of our baseball fields. The West Coast League has chosen Medford to be a part of it's elite baseball program. The Medford Baseball Society presented the league's plans to the council today asking to use the Hary and David field to play. It plans on creating an all star team made up of the best college players from across the state. Baseball society president Gary Miller says the team would get the community involved and give families something fun and cheap to do. Miller hopes to have the new team playing at the field next season. | Local Baseball League | News | 7/5/2012 | 5p, 6p, 11p | 3 |
| Law Enforcement / Drugs Medical Marijuana becoming a problem between Idaho and Oregon. Each state has different laws regarding the plant and now Idaho police say it's getting out of control. In Oregon it's legal for medical use. In Idaho, it's illegal which is why state police are trying to crackdown on pot from entering the state. Around 40% of pot seizures in Idaho came from Oregon Medical Marijuana. 196 people in Idaho have medical marijuana cards from Oregon. | Medical Marijuana | News | 7/6/2012 | 5a, 6a | 2 |

| Consumer Affairs / Price Information | Utility Services | News | 7/12/2012 | 5p, 6p, 11p, 5a, 6a, 12p | 6 |
| Public works met with city leaders to talk about utility fees that includes sewage street and storm drain services. Right now utility rates for single family homes for sewage ranges from 13 to 17 dollars depending on how much is used. But the planning department is proposing to charge a flat rate instead of about 15 dollars. Public Works Director Cory Crebbin says the goal is to charge customers the same amount it costs the city to provide the services. Crebbin ssays the changes will affect customers differently but for more people they're untility bill will go down. As for the city it will make 100 thousand dollars less than it does from current rates. Council members say they aren't worried though and it won't affect other city services. | | | | | |
| Josephine County / Grants Pass | City Expansion | News | 7/12/2012 | 5p, 6p, 11p, 5a, 6a, 12p | 6 |
| Taking a look at a map of Josephine County under the 20 year plan all of the areas in yellow would become the City of Grants Pass. Both the urban and rural planning commissions are looking over the idea. The city will hold a public forum next month at Battleground High School. City leaders say they're expecting big crowds. Now it's up to city leaders to decide if they want to keep the current method or make some changes. Council member will make a decision later this year if it's approved changes won't kick in until 2013. | | | | | |
| 7/25/12: Josephine County leaders working on a plan to expand the City of Grants Pass. That has some county residents upset. Others, though say being a part of the city will make them feel safer. Over the next 20 years the city of Grants Pass will be expanding by about 17 hundred acres. County leaders say border changes tend to be a heated issue. Some want more services like sewer and public safety but others don't want to pay higher taxes. After public hearings it will be up to the Josephine county commissioners and city council to vote on which one works best. | | | | | |
| Timber / Funding | Timber Payments | News | 7/12/2012 | 5p, 6p, 11p, 5a, 6a | 9 |
| President Obama signed a bill that will give Josephine County and extra year of timber payments. County Commissioners expecting to get around 4.6 million dollars. Now they're trying to figure out where that money will go. Some of the options putting it into this year's budget for county agencies like the sheriff's office saving it for the next two years or spreading it out to other departments facing cuts like animal care and control. County commissioner Simon Hare says no matter what they decide they still don't have a long term fix. | | | | | |
| 08/06/12: Josephine County sheriff is now suggesting ways to use the extra money. In July Congress passed a transportation bill and in that bill there was a provision giving former Timber Counties and extra year of relief payments. That could mean 4.6 million dollars for the cas strapped county. Now the sheriff has come up with suggestions as to what to do with the 500 thousand that's available this year. Among them hiring back three control techs at the jail, making court security a full time position and maybe even adding a deputy DA | | | | | |

| Grants Pass Public Safety could expand employees, but say they need more space. The Josephine County Sheriff's office moved into the jail last week leaving room for Public Safety. The Sheriff says consolidating offices with the jail will save the department nearly 90 thousand dollars. County commissioners say they haven't decided what to do with that money but the sheriff is hoping it goes toward hiring employees. The clerk at Public Safety says she spend about 30% more of her time on the phone. Records clerks say residents in the county are calling the City for help not realizing the City can't do anything to help them. Those calls are tying up the phone lines. About 5% of the calls are from people just asking general questions. Records Clerk are responsible for keeping track of information and answering non-emergency calls. The city has a new phone system when you call it has an automated menu that employees say is easier to help direct residents. | | | | | |
| Political Process / Ballots | Oregon Casino | News | 7/24/2012 | 5a | 1 |
| A proposal to allow private casinos in Oregon has qualified for the November ballot. It would amend the state's constitution to allow no-tribal casinos with some restrictions. Proponents say private casinos would create jobs and generate revenue for schools. However, critics say it would take gambling dollars away from tribes and the Oregon Lottery. | | | | | |

| It's called the neighborhood guest house and it could be the first of it's kind, a limited liability corporation founded by a homeless group. Allan Sandler and his partners plan to rent a home and pay for the homeless to live there temporarily. But only if the homeless can follow the law and help out the neighborhoods by doing community service projects. The group plans to run the plan by the Ashland City Council hoping for a show of support. Ashland's Mayor released this statement: First of all, this is not a city program and we are not endorsing this. However, I am watching with interest. I have known Allan Sandler for a number of years and I applaud him for bringing his creativity to the task of helping people climb out of homelessness. I also commend the homeless people who are joining in this experiment with Allan. I wish them success with this venture. If they pull this off it will be an important contribution to our community. | | | | | |

| Economy / Employment Unemployment in the Rogue Valley has been hovering around 10.5% for the last year. Local economists said they're seeing some positive trends in retail and people are buying more and stores are hiring more. While more retail jobs is a good thing, on average these jobs pay minimum wage which isn't as much as the government jobs that were lost. | Unemployment | News | 8/23/2012 | 6p | 1 |
| Education / Funding The Medford School District is developing a new compensation plan for its administrative staff. This plan has administrators paying more money up front for insurance and retirement. It's all part of an effort to help balance the budget. Under the plan, administrators, managers and confidential staff will pay 6% toward their pension instead of having the district cover it all. District leaders said the move helps balance the budget without putting all the cuts on teachers. In exchange for taking on insurance and Pers payments, administrators will get a four and a half percent cost of living raise and a one time stipend. | Medford School District | News | 8/23/2012 | 5p, 6p, 11p, 5a, 6a | 5 |
| Fires / Wildfires A large workshop was destroyed by fire around 9:00 a.m. this morning. It sent a large black plume of smoke in the air and shut down Jasmine Street in West Medford. Fire investigators determined that the fire was started by a homemade propane meat smoker which was left lit and unattended. | Workshop Fire | News | 8/23/2012 | 5p, 11p, 5a, 6a | 4 |
| Fires / Wildfires In Northern California, near Happy Camp, the Goff Fire is still growing. It's the last remaining active fire in the Fort Complex. The fire is now more than 5,000 acres and 15% contained. The Pacific Crest Trail is still closed. A meeting will be held tonight at 6:00 p.m. at the Seiad Fire Hall. | Goff Fire | News | 8/23/2012 | 12p, 5p, 6p, 11p, 5a, 6a | 6 |
| Fires / Wildfires The Fort Complex fire continues to grow. Especially near the Goff Fire. The winds have shifted and the flames are spreading. Putting a historic cabin at risk. Crews said they are making good progress on the Ponderosa wildfire burning near Redding. It is now 50% contained and thousand of people are still under evacuation order. Fifty buildings have been destroyed and more than 14,000 acres have been charred. The Barry Point Fire, south of Lakeview is now 65% contained and the number of crews on the fire have been reduced. Several crews are now fighting flames in the Devil's Garden area. The fire has burned more than 93,000 acres. | Fires | News | 8/23/2012 | 6a, 5p, 11p | 3 |

| Economy / Employment Worksource analysts in Medford said they're seeing an increase in jobs in the private sector. Anioura Oussenbec with Worksource said retail has added more than 700 jobs in the area over the last year but unemployment is up because of a drop in government jobs. Every branch of the public sector has seen a loss in employment since last July. Oussenbec said the pick up in the private sector has a lot to do with all the new retail stores opening in the valley. | Medford Jobs | News | 8/23/2012 | 5p, 11p | 3 |
| Community Services / Emergency Preparedness Medford fire crews are now spending the day training for rescues. Their focus, mass casualties. | Seven of the Rogue Valley Manor's nine board members were fired and a lawsuit claiming over-charging is dead in the water. It all started after a one year investigation into the Manor's management services. The board decided to sue so it could make it's own decisions about the Manor and how much to charge. It asked a judge to put a temporary restraining order in place so Pacific Retirement Services couldn't fire the board before the lawsuit was heard. The judge ruled against the board on Thursday. Then on Friday, PLS let most of the members go. Now residents are left wondering what's next for their community. They did not want to see the board members go. | | | | | |
| 8/27/12: Residents and former board members are reacting to some big changes at the Rogue Valley Manor. Friday, seven of its nine board members were fired after filing a lawsuit against Pacific Retirement Services, its managing company for over charging. A group of eleven residents are putting together a steering committee to educate their neighbors in the options they now have. The group isn't sure what those options are but the members are looking into them and will be meeting everyday this week. | | | | | |
| 09/21/12 Residents at the Rogue Valley Manor have hired a new lawyer and pooled together $200,000 to fund their fight against the Manor's owner, PRS. Residents said that they want lower rates, the power returned to the board and to have the fired executive director get his job back. | | | | | |

| Gas prices continue to climb. The average price for a gallon has jumped seven cents recently. That puts the price at about $3.76 a gallon. That is up 13 cents in just the past two weeks. | | | | | |
| Business / Expansion | Northgate Shops | News | 8/26/2012 | 6p, 11p, 5a | 3 |
| Local economist said when the new Northgate shops open they expect to see even more work opportunities for Southern Oregon residents. Sunday afternoon, REI employees from the Northgate shop teamed up with a local non-profit group Lomakatsi to restore Bear Creek off of Spence Street and to get involved with the community. REI is adding more than 50 jobs to the local economy and the outdoor recreation company gave a $10,000 grant to Lomakatsi. The money being used is to restore a 1,700 foot stretch of Bear Creek near Spencer Street. Lomakatsi's Education Director, Niki Delpizzo, said she's pretty excited about the project. They spent most of the afternoon trimming back shrubs, watering new plants and making sure the streams are clean. REI will continue with the upkeep. The store is set to open October 5th. | | | | | |

| This morning around 300 people in the Siad Valley were told they may have to evacuate their homes tonight. Deputies with the Siskiyou County Sheriff's Office went door to door to tell residents they may be forced out of their homes if the Goff Fire continues to grow. The fire is nearly 12,000 acres and just 15% contained. Nearly 85 homes may be in danger. One of the biggest issues for deputies is taking care of animals in the area. The Siskiyou County Deputies say if you have to evacuate your home the most important thing to do is leave your lights on so firefighters can see your home through the smoke. The Barry Point Fire in Lake County is holding steady at 93 thousand acres. It is 95% contained and the Bagley fire is 20% contained. The fire is burning in the Shasta-Trinity National Forest. It has scorched more than 24 thousand acres. No structures are threatened but Route 299 has one lane closed. | | | | | |

| The Josephine County Sheriff is on a mission to save dozens of dogs that he said are trapped in trailers at a Puppy mill in Kirby. He said the dogs are living in hot, stuffy conditions with feces everywhere and is concerned about the dogs owner. The sheriff and animal control have made several trips to the property since March and are now working on getting a search warrant. While waiting for the search warrant, animal control is still evaluating the situation. The Rogue Valley Human Society is shocked this is still being allowed to happen. The sheriff said that with a case like this, it takes time to go through the proper protocol to get the dogs removed. But in the meantime, Margret Varner with the Humane Society said that it may already be too late. | | | | | |

District workers said they handed the teachers union the new contract at the end of June after changing some errors. So far, the contract hasn't come back to them. The district said it will not affect students. | | | | | |
| Health / Virus | West Nile | News | 9/3/2012 | 5p, 6p, 11p, 5a | 4 |
| A horse owner is heartbroken and concerned after his horse had to be put down by a veterinarian who believes the horse had West Nile virus and was probably infected roughly four or five days ago. It would be the first case this year in Grants Pass. Robert Devollevier's horse, Cherokee, got so sick so fast with symptoms that included twitching, loss of appetite and isolation. His horse had the worst case scenario in that it could not get up. The vet said there have been cases of the West Nile virus in Grants Pass in the past but nothing this severe and all animals, including humans should take precautions. There is a vaccine for West Nile but only for horses and the vaccine involves several shots over time. | | | | | |

| Fires / Wildfires Josephine County's Slate Creek Fire is now 100% contained. The fire started on Monday and has burned 160 acres. ODF believes the fire was started near some stolen vehicles and a generator that were discovered off Waters Creek Road. Fire investigators said the vehicles look like they were being stripped and someone with power equipment could have started the fire. 9/18/12: A reward is now being offered if anyone can help investigators find the person who started the Slate Fire. The wildfire burned 160 acres and cost hundreds of thousands of dollars to fight. ODF said it looked like the fire started near some stolen vehicles that may have been stripped. The evidence found at the fire's origin is now at a lab. It may take weeks to find out more information about who caused the fire. 9/27/12: A reward of $5000 is being offered for anyone who offers information that leads to an arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the fire. The reward is being offered through the Oregon Department of Forestry and the Oregon Council Against Arson. | Slate Fire Update | News | 9/4/2012 | 5p, 6p, 11p, 5a, 6a, 12p | 16 |

| Business / Development The Coquille Tribe announced today it's plans to put in a casino along Highway 99. The tribe has already bought the property which was once the home of Kim's and the building housing Roxy Ann Lanes. The project would use the Roxy Ann facility for games, keep the golf course as is and use Kim's as a parking lot. The casino could potentially bring 700 jobs to the valley. Jackson County is in the service area of the Coquille Tribe and because it's in the area it can have reservation land here. The tribe has purchased the property and is applying for a trust. Once it goes through it will take one to six years to become reservation land where gambling is legal. 09/10/12: The Cow Creek Umpqua Tribe is shocked that the Coquille Tribe may be getting away with a second casino. The tribe said the deal has always been only one casino in the state per tribe. The Cow Creek Tribe also said that the casino would bring economic consequences competing with it's Seven Feathers Casino and local Oregon Lottery retailers. Cow Creek said that it supports the right of tribes to do what's best for it's community but it will be vigorously opposing the proposed Medford casino. | Casino | News | 9/7/2012 | 5p, 6p, 11p, 5a, 6a, 12p | 11 |

| Education / Quality Oregon Students are having a difficult time meeting new state standards as reflected in the 2011-2012 assessment tests. The results released today show the number of elementary and middle school students meeting the standard for reading was down. High school performance stayed about the same in reading, but dropped in math. All grades struggled with the science tests. Student learning is up in many areas, even though the new standards may paint a more dismal picture. | Oregon Students | News | 9/12/2012 | 12p | 1 |
| Health / Benefits Despite the rise in cost, more Americans now have medical insurance. The Census Bureau is finding that four million more people have health care this year than last year. More than 84% of Americans are insured. One reason is because more people are using Medicaid and Medicare and more young adults are insured due to the Affordable Care Act. | Health Insurance | News | 9/12/2012 | 6p | 1 |
| Education / Enrollment The Medford School District is seeing record enrollment. More than 13,000 students are enrolled in the district this fall which is 581 more students than expected. Schools are seeing growth across all grade levels. The kindergarden class is at record enrollment with more than 1,000 children. The district has added four teachers and added a fifth kindergarden class today. The district isn't sure what's responsible for the boom. Superintendent Phil Long said it could be people moving into Jackson County and into Medford. He said with tough economic times he is seeing more extended families moving in together. | Enrollment | News | 9/12/2012 | 5p, 11p, 5a, 6a | 4 |
| Community Services / Animal Protection The Southern Oregon Humane Society is seeing more people being forced to give up their dogs and cats because of rental restrictions. The Housing Authority of Jackson County said because of tight times, more people are renting instead of owning which means they have to follow their landlords rules. Those rules usually restrict the type and size of pets allowed and some don't allow pets at all. An owner of a dog was forced to give up his dog Edgar because his rental property changed it's pet policy. Edgar is homeless again after having to go back to the Humane Society where he was adopted about two years ago. Now the shelter hopes to find a new owner for Edgar. 09/13/12 11p An update to Edgar who was put up for adoption. He was adopted by a person who saw the story on the news and decided to give the pup a forever home. | Pet Policy | News | 9/12/2012 | 5p, 6p, 11p, 5a, 6a | 5 |

| Law Enforcement / Drugs | Pot Raids | News | 9/14/2012 | 5p, 6p, 11p | 3 |
| Reports are coming in from around Oregon of new rounds of medical marijuana raids. Some people in our area are worried but others said they're fine as long as they follow the law. A representative from Southern Oregon Alternative Medicine said they're not worried about their patients or growers as long as they follow the law. Unlike the pot raids a year ago in Southern Oregon, Tuesday's raid in Malheur county has been kept pretty quiet. The Malheur county sheriff said it wasn't just one grower busted. The county along with Ontario police and Idaho agencies went in after they learned growers were taking money for the pot which is illegal. Local medical marijuana advocate, Melanie Barniskis said what police are calling illegal activity is really just growers accepting donations. The law says that you can be compensated for the materials and supplies that go into the growing, labor and transportation. | | | | | |

| Employees at the new Lithia Commons in downtown Medford are all moved in. The new building's downstairs floor is still vacant but spaces will be filled by retail stores. Lithia is screening applicants now. Before the new headquarters were built, employees were spread out all around town. The company is also planning a big hiring event on the 19th of September, adding up to 50 jobs to the local economy. | | | | | |
| Consumer Affairs / Information | Liquor Sales | News | 9/14/2012 | 12p, 6p | 2 |
| Some big grocery food chains in Oregon are fighting for their right to sell hard liquor. A lobbyist representing the stores is warning Oregon lawmakers that if lawmakers don't change alcohol laws banning the sale of hard liquor in grocery stores, his clients will launch an initiative in 2014 to privatize the entire system. The lobbyist worked with Costco and voters in Washington to revoke that state's monopoly on liquor sales last year. The results are higher prices for alcohol that's sending customers over the Oregon border for booze. | | | | | |

| Law Enforcement / Safety Issues | Animal Rescue | News | 9/16/2012 | 5p, 6p, 11p, 5a, 6a | 15 |
| Nearly 200 animals were rescued from a property off of White School House Road in Cave Junction. Animal control officers were finding everything from peacocks, to goats, to miniature horses. Some animals had broken legs, jaws or have been nearly starved to death. Investigators even found remains of dead animals. The animals are now getting medical help and volunteers are asking for help in paying for food and are also asking for donations. The rescue took all weekend and crews said it would not have been possible without the help of volunteers. The owner of the property now faces animal abuse and neglect charges. 9/17/12: The owner of the property, Kandi Crow, was convicted of animal abuse and neglect back in 2009. Court records show Crow was sentenced to 10 days behind bars and had to pay more than $700.00 in fines. The charges were misdemeanors. She said she has not done anything wrong regarding this new case and that not all the animals on the property are hers. She also said that there is up to 10 people helping her on the ranch and she always has enough food and space for more. Crow insisted that she can always take care of her animals. For now, her property is empty and the investigation is just beginning. The District Attorney's office could not comment on the case. Meanwhile, Crow is in the hospital recovering from hip surgery. She said she was not home when the search warrants were served. 9/25/12: Josephine County is trying to figure out how to pay for the care and feeding of the 216 animals rescued and is asking for the public's help. | | | | | |

The commissioner adjusts the wage for inflation every September due to a law that voters approved six years ago. | OR Minimum Wage | News | 9/17/2012 | 11p, 5a, 6a | 3 |
| Law Enforcement / Drugs A marijuana farm, High Hopes Farm, on the outskirts of Jacksonville got a visit today by federal agents and a dump truck full of pot was seen leaving the farm. A crackdown on marijuana started last year with a warning from Oregon's U.S. attorney stating that selling marijuana is illegal in Oregon. It violates both state and federal law. People who sell marijuana face a risk of prosecution or civil enforcement action. The owner of the farm, James Bowman, heard the warning but didn't think his business was doing anything wrong. As of last year, High Hopes Farm was growing nearly 500 marijuana plants for about 80 medical marijuana patients. Advertising itself online as organic and sustainable is illegal according to the DEA. Similar pot raids started in the area about this time last year. Federal agents ended up seizing more than 4,000 pounds of marijuana over the course of several weeks. Most of that pot came from three grow sites scattered around Medford and Central Point. Six people are now facing charges in connection with those raids. 9/24/12: The DEA agent released a statement on the pot raid last week and said that the farm was illegally distributing the drug but would not give any details. The federal investigation isn't over and it could take months for new information. | Pot Bust | News | 9/18/2012 | 5p, 6p, 11p, 5a, 6a, 12p | 11 |
| Law Enforcement / Facilities Siskiyou county is getting more than 24 million dollars from the state funding to build a new jail. Because of overflowing prisons, the state is helping some counties expand their jails. The jail does not have room to remodel so it has to start from scratch. It is looking at several new properties and making plans. Before the county gets the money, it has to present it's final plans to the Board of Supervisors. The jail could take up to five years to build. Shasta county was also awarded money to expand it's jail but had to turn it down because it doesn't have enough money to keep a bigger jail staffed. | New Jail For Siskiyou | News | 9/18/2012 | 5p, 6p, 11p, 5a, 6a, 12p | 6 |
| Safety / Driving Police are urging people to slow down near crosswalks, especially near schools since the new school year has started. Police advise people to get an early start to work due to all the school buses. | Josephine County / Grants Pass Josephine County leaders are making plans to expand the city of Grants Pass. Expanding the boundaries which would be about 1700 acres, would provide city services for more people but also result in higher taxes for new residents. The change would happen slowly over the next twenty years. City workers said it's all in an effort to prepare for the growth of the city and is required by state law. The final plan will have to be approved through the commissioners and then through the state. | GP Expanding | News | 9/18/2012 | 6p, 11p, 5a, 6a | 4 |
| Education / Quality Eagle Point School District students turned in lower than expected test scores last year. Administrators are now blaming the strike which started last May. Students had shown improvement on the tests for three years until the most recent results ended the trend. | A Klamath Falls company is denying reports that it's pulling out of Oregon. Jeld Wen is one of the largest employers in Klamath County providing more than 1,100 jobs. When a report in the Oregonian came out saying the door and window company was thinking about pulling out, people were worried. That report said Jeld Wen was looking to head to North Carolina. Losing the company would have a major impact but a spokesman said the community should not be concerned. The company did say it is moving a few employees to the North Carolina office but Jeld Wen also plans to add jobs to the Klamath Falls community in the near future. The mayor of Klamath Falls, Todd Kellstrom, said he was relieved to hear Wednesday's Oregonian reports that Jeld Wen might be moving were false. He said the company brings more to the basin than just jobs. The company's executive vice president, Ron Saxton was out of town but said over the phone to reassure all 1,135 people working at the headquarters that their jobs aren't going anywhere. 9/28/12: The Klamath Falls door and window company is announcing a new executive vice president and chief financial officer. | Agriculture / Crops | Grape Harvest | News | 9/19/2012 | 5p | 1 |
| It's harvest time in northern California's wine country and the crops look good but there's a problem because there are not enough workers in the fields. Becky Jenkins, CFO of Madrone Vineyard Management, said it's a combination of the economy, recent harvests that have not been profitable for the workers and immigration issues that have kept the traditional Mexican workforce in Mexico. However, local vineyards haven't reported any problems as they get ready for the harvest. | | | | | |
| Business / Jobs | Seasonal Hiring | News | 9/19/2012 | 5p | 1 |
| The holiday season is just around the corner and for some local stores that means season hiring. Kohl's is already announced it's opening up spots for more than 52,000 nationwide which is 10% more seasonal workers than it hired last year. Other retail giants like Toys-R-Us, Walmart and Target will announce it's hiring plans soon. | | | | | |

48 HOURS MYSTERY

- 07/03/12 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "A Fatal Attraction" (10:00-11:00p) - Joanne Witt, a 47-year old engineer in El Dorado Hills, California was stabbed to death while she was sleeping on Thursday, June 11, 2009. One month prior to her death Joanne found her 14-year old daughter Tylar Witt in a compromising situation with 19-year old Stephen Colver. Joanne was a single mother and along the way had lost control of Tylar, but exposing her daughter's relationship with Stephen would prove to be their last fight. Joanne tried to stop the relationship once she was aware of it, but the couple denied any wrongdoing. When Joanne discovered Tylar's diary detailing the sexual encounters between the couple, she went straight to authorities, and an investigation was opened. Prosecutor Lissette Suder, in conjunction with Stephen's defense attorney Dain Weiner and Tylar's lawyer Mark Ralphs, outlined the unfolding sequence of events. Tylar and Stephen were afraid of statutory rape charges and after Joanne was dead they decided to rent a hotel room for the night in San Francisco. Stephen and Tylar wrote suicide notes, and ate rat poison hoping to die together. When the rat poison didn't work they were on the run until local police officers turned them in. Tylar ended up turning on Stephen once prosecutors got involved and at his trial, she testified against him. In the end Stephen was sentenced to life in prison without parole, and Tylar pleaded guilty to 2nd degree murder, receiving 15 years to life. On screen text graphic: Tylar Witt is not eligible for parole until 2024; she will be 29 years old. Onscreen text graphic for the 07/03/12 rebroadcast: Tylar Witt is not eligible for parole until 2024. She will be 29 years old. Steven Colver has filed an appeal. Interviewed: prosecutor Lissette Suder; Stephen Colver's lawyer, Dain Weiner; Mark Ralphs, Tylar Witt's attorney; Joanne Witt's parents, Norb and Judi Witt; Joanne Witt's friends, Roxanna Jurgett and Vinnie Catapano; Stephen Colver's mother, Jan Colver. (C: Richard Schlesinger - P: Ira Sutow, Sue McHugh, Avi Cohen) (OAD: 01/28/12)
- 07/07/12 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "The Killing Fields" - a report about a desolate strip of land between Houston and Galveston where over 30 young women and girls have disappeared or have been murdered, and a followup to "Killer in Friendswood" (OAD: 05/01/97), which detailed the disappearance and death of 12-year-old Laura Smither. With this weekend's release of a film entitled "The Texas Killing Fields", attention has been rekindled about some of the cases, including the story of Krystal Baker. In 1996, Baker, whose great-aunt was movie star Marilyn Monroe, disappeared from Texas City and was found two weeks later near the Louisiana border, beaten to death and sexually assaulted. In 1997, Laura Smither went out to jog and disappeared and her body was found weeks later. When another young woman disappeared, the Smithers joined the search, as did Tim Miller, whose daughter, Laura Miller, was kidnaped and murdered when she was sixteen. Laura was one of four young women murdered and dumped along a remote area that earned the name "the killing fields". Journalist Skip Hollandsworth chronicled the case for Texas Monthly, in which a brilliant scientist, Robert Abel, became a suspect, but police could never find a connection. Police detectives Brian Goetschius and Michael Land are investigating, but as Hollandsworth says, it's clear that it has been various men who have done different things to these women, not one serial killer. As the movie is released, there is the reality that many of these cases remain unsolved. The actors hope that the film will help make a difference. Just after the film wrapped, a big break came up in the Krystal Baker case: DNA was submitted to a nationwide computer data bank, and a Louisiana man, Kevin Edison Smith, arrested on a drug charge, came back as a match. He has been charged with murder and will go on trial in December. The Smithers don't have DNA evidence, but they believe they know who killed their daughter: William Reece, the prime suspect in another case. Motivated by his loss, Tim Miller founded the rescue group Equusearch, which over the years, has helped look for missing people and located scores of bodies. For now, the killings seem to have stopped: no new cases of murder have arisen. Included interviews with: journalist Skip Hollandsworth; screenwriter Don Ferrarone, actor Sam Worthington; investigators Brian Goetschius and Michael Land; Jeanie Baker, mother of victim Krystal Baker; Bob and Gay Smither, parents of victim Laura Smither; Tim Miller, father of victim Laura Miller. 48 HOURS MYSTERY (continued)

- 07/10/12 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Screenplay for Murder" (10:00-11:00p) - a report on Canadian filmmaker Mark Twitchell, whose obsession with the Showtime television series "Dexter" turned to reality and led to murder. His film, "House of Cards", was about a male serial killer who created a fake online profile as a woman, lured men from a dating website to his garage -- and then killed them. Police became interested in Twitchell when they were investigating a missing persons case, 38-year-old computer enthusiast John Altinger, and were led to the garage where he had just wrapped shooting his movie. A Facebook page where he compared himself to the serial killer "Dexter" and the discovery of a secret journal, which was essentially a blueprint for murder, allowed Edmonton police to eventually link Twitchell to the 2008 murder of Altinger and to the attempted murder of 33-year old Gilles Tetreault -- both of whom had answered an online dating ad. On Screen Text Graphics: The Crown has decided not to charge Mark Twitchell with the attempted murder of Gilles Tetreault at this time. Ironically, an independent film about this case is currently in production. On screen text graphic for the 07/10/12 rebroadcast: Crown prosecutors have decided not to charge Mark Twitchell with the attempted murder of Gilles Tetreault. In February 2012 Twitchell dropped his appeal. Includes interviews with: Gilles Tetreault, victim; Bill Clark, Edmonton Police homicide detective; Jess, Twitchell's ex-wife; Marisa Girhiny and Trevor Hossinger, who witnessed Gilles under attack; Gary Altinger, John's older brother; Jimmy Siokos, actor and screenwriter; Chris Heward, actor in "House of Cards"; Renee Waring, Twitchell's Facebook friend; Detective Mark Anstey; Avril Inglis and Lawrence Van Dyke, Edmonton Crown prosecutors. (C: Troy Roberts - P: Lourdes Aguiar, Anthony Venditti) (OAD: 02/11/12)
- 07/14/12 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Family Affair" - a report on the 2008 murders of Philip Heidt and his son Carey Heidt, the shooting of Philip's wife, Linda Heidt, and the secret extra-marital affair of Carey's wife Robin with his brother Craig Heidt, who has been convicted of the murders of his father and his brother. The Heidt family lived in the small town of Springfield Georgia. Philip Heidt, a real estate developer was married to Linda. They had three sons, Chris, Craig and Carey. Carey became his father's business partner and married Robin. They seemed the perfect Southern family -- but Robin Heidt had been having an affair with her brother-in-law Craig Heidt, the self-described black sheep of the family. She even told her husband about the affair. Carey was distraught, but no fool: he removed Robin from his life insurance policy. During one of their trysts, Philip hired a helicopter to track them down because he wanted hard evidence of their affair. Carey and Robin then separated; he went to stay with his parents. Then, on August 25, 2008, the crime occurred. Philip and Carey were fatally shot with a shotgun; Linda Heidt miraculously survived, turning her head at the moment of the shooting. With nothing taken from inside the house - money and jewelry untouched - investigators concluded the motive was murder. Detectives gave Robin the news: she says she immediately confronted Craig, who said he didn't do it. Police immediately zeroed in on Craig. Linda Heidt did not see the shooter, but is adamant that Craig didn't do it -- circumstantial evidence said otherwise. Four months after the murders, Craig moved in with Robin and her children was essentially living Carey's life. Nine months later Craig asked Robin to marry him. In May 2009, Craig Heidt was arrested for the murders. His mother and brother stood by him during the trial; Robin did not. He was found guilty. Family members insist he didn't get a fair trial. Epilogue: In November 2011, Robin married Bradley Cave, who had spent a year in mandatory drug rehabilitation. In December 2011, a lawyer for the Heidt children asked a court to remove them from Robin's care and let them live with Linda. The judge gave Linda immediate custody, ordered monies from the Heidt trust to be paid to Linda for care of the children. Robin was also to turn over the children's Social Security payments. She did not and a warrant was issued. She spent two days in jail right before Christmas. On screen text graphic: Craig Heidt is appealing his conviction. On screen text graphic for the 07/14/12 rebroadcast: In November 2011 Robin Heidt remarried and moved to Charleston, South Carolina with her new husband and her three children. The court ruled that both Robin Heidt Cave and Linda Heidt share joint custody of the children. Craig Heidt's appeal on his conviction will be heard by the Georgia Supreme Court in September. Interviewed: family members Robin Heidt, Linda Heidt, Chris Heidt; Michael Muldrew, prosecutor; Dr. James Downs, medical examiner; Jimmie McDuffie, sheriff, Effingham County, Georgia; Eugene Howard, agent in charge, Georgia Bureau of Investigations; Ed Myrick, sheriff's firearms instructor; James Dingledein, police officer; Dow Bonds, Craig Heidt's attorney. 48 HOURS MYSTERY (continued)

48 HOURS MYSTERY: "The Girl Who Knew Too Much" (9:00-10:00p) - a report on the 1992 murder of 19-year-old Mischelle Lawless, whose bloodied body was found in an abandoned car on a desolate strip of highway in Benton, Missouri. As Deputy Sheriff Rick Walter was working on the crime scene, a local man, Mark Abbott, reported that he had seen the young woman in her car, and also told investigators that he saw a white car driving near the crime scene. Police questioned Lawless' boyfriend, Leon Lamb, but could find nothing to tie him to the crime, and he passed a polygraph. Four months into the investigation, investigators got a break: 17-year-old Joshua Kezer had been held briefly in the county jail on assault charges, where, according to several inmates, he confessed to killing Lawless. Then Mark Abbott identified Kezer from a photo lineup as the driver of the white car he had seen near the crime scene. Police then charged Kezer with first-degree murder. During the trial, a young woman, Chantelle Crider, identified Kezer as having been at a party where he had words with Mischelle. However, no DNA, fingerprints or murder weapon linked Kezer to the scene. Nevertheless, Kezer was convicted and sentenced to 60 years in prison. The case haunted Rick Walter and in 2005, now sheriff, he re-opened the case. Soon the foundation on which Kezer's conviction was built began to crumble, as witnesses admitted to lying and evidence was questioned. Judge Richard Callahan agreed to review the case and was so disturbed by what he saw that instead of ordering a new trial, he declared Josh Kezer an innocent man. But someone killed Mischelle and high on the list of suspects is that local man, Mark Abbott, who was once a star witness for the prosecution. In fact, there are two Abbotts, Mark and his identical twin Matt. To this day, Walters is not sure which Abbott brother came in to report finding Mischelle, and two people in the office say that it was his brother Matt. Leon Lamb also remains a suspect. With the help of forensics experts at a "crime farm" in the Netherlands, who have examined DNA evidence, Walters hopes further investigation will allow him to bring the case to a grand jury. On screen text graphic update: Josh Kezer is suing former Sheriff Bill Ferrell for wrongful arrest. Onscreen text graphic update for 01/01/11: Josh Kezer sued Scott County and former Sheriff Bill Ferrell for wrongful arrest. They settled the case for several million dollars. On screen text graphic for the 07/21/12 rebroadcast: Josh Kezer sued Scott County and former Sheriff Bill Ferrell for wrongful arrest. They settled the case for several million dollars. Kezer donated $10,000 to the Scott County Sheriff's Department to fund the continuing investigation of the Lawless murder. Interviewed: Sheriff Rick Walter; Joshua Kezer; Melissa Gaines, Mischelle's best friend; Mark Abbott; Jason Lawless, Mischelle's brother; Leon Lamb; Valerie Eubanks, Mischelle's sister; Esther Lawless, Mischelle's mother; Chantelle Crider; Brandon Caid, investigator; Dawn Pierce, host of the party; Jane Williams, church volunteer at the Missouri State Prison; Judge Richard Callahan; Ron Burton, friend of Mark Abbott; Richard and Selma Eikelenboom, Dutch forensics experts. 07/28/12

48 HOURS MYSTERY: "My Mother's Murder" - On the morning of June 5, 2005, Noura Jackson, a teenager, called the police to report that she had discovered the body of her mother, Jennifer Jackson, in their Memphis, Tennessee home. Jennifer, a 39-year-old divorced single parent, was a successful bond trader, who provided Noura with a generous lifestyle. Due to the brutality of her murder, police initially considered a possible link between Jennifer's death and the unsolved shooting death of her estranged husband, Nazmi Hassanieh, seventeen months prior; they also focused on Jennifer's ex-boyfriend, Mark Irvin, a minister, who had an alibi. Although there was a lack of physical evidence at the crime scene, Noura's conflicting accounts of her activities in the hours before she called 911, a gap in her cell phone usage, and an early morning trip to Walgreen's to purchase first aid supplies for a cut on her hand, caused police to focus on her as a suspect. While none of the DNA at the crime scene matched Noura's, she was eventually charged with her mother's murder. Four years later, at her trial, prosecutors alleged that the seemingly good relationship between mother and daughter was strained due to Jennifer's criticism of Noura's hard-partying lifestyle and charged that this was the motive for the crime. The jury found Noura guilty of second-degree murder -- she still maintains her innocence. Onscreen graphics: Noura Jackson was sentenced to 20 years in prison. She will be 39 years old when released -- the same age her mother was when she was murdered. Interviewed: Noura Jackson; family friends Susan Tobey, Renea McMillan, Ansley Larsson, Dana Frederick; Sergeant Tim Helldorfer with the Memphis Police Department; Memphis detectives Lieutenant Mark Miller and Sergeant W.D. Merritt; Sergeant Connie Justice, the first officer to interview Noura; Valerie Corder, Memphis Defense Attorney; Prosecutor Amy Weirich. 48 HOURS MYSTERY

08/04/12 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "The Country Club Murders" - a report on professional poker player Ernie Scherer III, the chief suspect in the 2008 murders of his parents, Charlene and Ernest, in their Castlewood Country Club home in Pleasanton, California. Ernie's motive was financial gain: he was to receive over $2 million if his parents died. He was facing financial pressure from his gambling debts and the loan he was paying back to his parents for the condo he lived in with his wife and young son. During the course of the investigation, police discovered that Ernie was involved with various other women, and always spent lavishly. At the scene, police discovered an odd clue: bloody footprints intentionally left as part of a staged crime scene. Police questioned Ernie, but with no forensic evidence to tie him to the crime, they were unable to arrest him. Later, when new evidence came to light, Ernie had vanished. After a cross country spree of nearly one year, police, with the help of Ernie's wife, were able to apprehend and arrest him for the murder of his parents. His trial in January 2011, ended in a guilty verdict. On-screen text graphic: Ernie Scherer is serving two consecutive life sentences. Catherine Scherer has set up a scholarship in her mother's name at Cal State East Bay. Charlene taught there for more than 30 years. Updated on-screen text graphic for the 08/04/12 rebroadcast: Ernie Scherer has filed an appeal. Interviewed: Catherine Scherer, daughter of Charlene and Ernie; Robyn Scherer, Ernie Scherer III's wife; Scott Dudek and Mike Norton, Alameda County Sheriff's Department Detectives; Michael Nieto, Prosecutor; Adrian Solomon, girlfriend of Ernie's; Pamela Nichols, another girlfriend; Robert Brentlinger, owner, Master at Arms casino; Billy Krauss, piano player and friend of Ernie's. (C: Peter Van Sant - P: Sara Rodriguez) (OAD: 03/03/12)

08/11/12 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Dark Side of Paradise" (9:00-10:00p) - A report about Don North, a free spirit who took to the waters of the Caribbean, living amongst the tight-knit "cruiser community", a group of individuals who choose to live their lives on the water. His disappearance and presumed death, near the San Blas Islands, off the coast of Panama, led authorities to the discovery of a potential serial killer in the Caribbean, when they recovered the body of murdered sailor, Jean Pierre Bouahard. Don's nephew Ezra North, with the help of Don Winner, a private detective, discovered that Javier Martin, a fellow sailor, had lost his boat and subsequently, the business that went along with it, during recent storms and had turned to murder in an effort to re-establish his business. On-screen Text Graphics: Javier Martin faces up to 70 years in prison if convicted of the murders of Don North and Jean Pierre Bouahard. Ezra North says Don's boat, the Windancer, is being repaired and will soon be ready to sail again. Includes interviews with: Garrett Paul and Jessica Stout, Amazing Race Contestants; Luis, Cruiser; Don Winner, former Intelligence Officer with the U.S. Air Force; Glenn and Eddie Tuttle; Captain Jack Von Ohlen; Captain Jack; Dennis Morris; Becky Reynolds, Don's former girlfriend of five years; Ezra North, Don's nephew; Scott Walters, Sonar Expert. 48 HOURS MYSTERY (continued)

- 08/11/12 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "The West Memphis 3 - Free" (10:00-11:00p) - a followup to "A Cry for Innocence" (OAD: 02/27/10), the story of three teenagers known as the "West Memphis Three" who were convicted of the brutal murders of three young boys in West Memphis, Arkansas, seventeen years ago. Damien Echols received the death penalty, while friends Jason Baldwin and Jesse Misskelly were sentenced to life in prison. As the case became well-known, musicians and actors came forward to lend their support, and an HBO documentary, "Paradise Lost", and a book by Mara Leveritt entitled "Devil's Knot", detailed flaws in the case, and forensic scientists challenged results. The Arkansas Supreme Court ordered a different judge to examine all the evidence, old and new, and decide if their should be new trials. The only hitch: everyone will have to wait another year. Now, in a stunning turn of events, the three men were all released from prison last month, agreeing to a rarely used legal procedure, called the Alford Plea, in which a defendant proclaims innocence and yet pleads guilty. Included in this follow-up are interviews with Damien Echols and his wife, Lorri Davis; Jason Baldwin; attorney Stephen Braga. On-screen Text Graphic: As a condition of the plea, the West Memphis 3 had to agree not to sue the state of Arkansas. Updated on-screen text graphic for the 08/11/12 rebroadcast: Jason Baldwin is going to college. Jessie Misskelly is training to be an auto mechanic. Damien Echols' autobiography, "Life after Death," is being published in September. (See also: 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "A Cry for Innocence", OAD: 02/27/10; rebroadcast on 07/24/10) (C: Erin Moriarty - P: Gail Abbott Zimmerman, Lisa Freed, Linda Martin) (OAD: 09/17/11)
- 08/18/12 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "The Boy Next Door" - an updated report on the hunt for a serial killer suspected of murdering three young women from Los Angeles, California to Chicago, Illinois. In 2001, Los Angeles resident Ashley Ellerin was planning to attend a Grammy party with actor Ashton Kutcher. When Kutcher arrived at her home, she never answered the door; it turned out that she had been brutally stabbed to death the night before. Her friends directed the police to Michael Gargiulo, a former boxer and aspiring actor who was working as a repairman -- friends said that he was oddly fixated with her. In the course of the police investigation, the police learned Gargiulo was being investigated for another crime -- the unsolved murder of Tricia Paccaccio, who had lived in Gargiulo's former Glenview, Illinois neighborhood. Due to lack of evidence, he had never been charged, and he left for California. Five years after the Ellerin murder, another woman, Maria Bruno, was found dead just steps away from the apartment where Gargiulo lived. In that case, detectives found a blue cotton booty, with a drop of Maria's blood on the bottom. In 2008, a Santa Monica woman was attacked, but survived. Blood evidence and DNA (which had been filed in the National Database by Cook County Illinois authorities) led investigators to Michael Gargiulo, who was living just across the alley from where the woman was attacked. Police arrested Gargiulo and the investigation led to a connection to all of the cases involving the several young women. Gargiulo insists he is innocent. UPDATE: Since the original broadcast, two witnesses to statements made by Gargiulo that he killed a woman in Chicago have contacted 48 HOURS. They were put in touch with the proper authorities. Shortly thereafter, a Cook County Grand Jury indicted Michael Gargiulo for Tricia Paccaccio's murder. On Screen Text Graphic: Michael Gargiulo is scheduled to stand trial at the end of the year for the murders of Ashley Ellerin and Maria Bruno. If convicted, he will face the death penalty. Updated on-screen text graphic for the 08/18/12 rebroadcast: Prosecutors are hoping to have Michael Gargiulo's trial for the murders of Ashley Ellerin and Maria Bruno in court before the end of the year. He is now acting as his own attorney. If convicted, Michael Gargiulo will face the death penalty. Regardless of the outcome in Los Angeles, Chicago prosecutors intend to bring Gargiulo back to Illinois to stand trial for the murder of Tricia Paccaccio. Interviewed: Rick, Diane and Doug Paccaccio, Tricia's father, mother and brother; Karen Jones, friend of Tricia's; Ray Salihovich, Illinois police officer; Justin Peterson, Chris Duran and Jennifer Disisto, friends of Ashley Ellerin; Tom Small, Los Angeles Police Department homicide detective; Temple Brown, Los Angeles filmmaker; Scott Olsen, friend of Michael Gargiulo; Jack Reed and Mark Baldwin, Cook County sheriff's detectives; Mark Lillienfeld, homicide detective with the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department; Richard Lewis, Santa Monica Police Sergeant; Jack Blakey, head of cold case prosecutions for the Cook County state's attorney. 48 HOURS MYSTERY

- 09/01/12 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Playing with Fire" (9:00-10:00p) - In the early morning hours of September 2, 2002, two young men were found executed in a burning Mercedes SUV in an upscale North Hollywood, California neighborhood. The victims were Michael Tardio, 35, a part-time model and doorman at The Garden of Eden – at the time Hollywood's hottest nightclub – and his friend, 31-year-old Christopher Monson. What initially looked like a drug or gang-related murder, turned out to be something entirely different, but the crime scene left little forensic evidence to go on. Retired veteran Los Angeles Police Department Detective Bill Cox, who spent four years on the case learned that Tardio's girlfriend was Sandy Bentley, who along with her twin sister, was a former live-in girlfriend of Hugh Hefner at the Playboy Mansion. She was also an ex-girlfriend of Mark Yagalla, a former Wall Street hedge fund manager who was convicted of running a multi-million dollar Ponzi scheme. During her relationship with Yagalla, he gave her more than $6 million worth of expensive gifts. When federal officials came after these gifts, Bentley secretly kept $1 million worth of jewels and furs she was legally required to forfeit. Police believe that Tardio and Monson were murdered when Tardio set up a deal to sell the jewelry to an unidentified buyer. When Bentley was questioned by police, she initially denied the fact that Tardio and Monson were selling the jewelry. When threatened with a possible jail sentence, she told them the truth. The strongest lead police had was a telephone number Tardio gave to Bentley for Michael Jacobs, a convicted felon who was seen with Tardio at the Garden of Eden. Police believe he was the middle man in the jewelry transaction and the only person who knows the identity of the intended buyer, known only as "Mister Big". Jacobs has refused to give any information to the police or 48 HOURS. Authorities are hoping that viewers of this broadcast may provide a new lead that could help them in solving the case. Interviewed: Retired LAPD Detective Bill Cox; Andrew Blankstein of the Los Angeles Times; Izabella St. James, former girlfriend of Hugh Hefner; Mark Yagalla; Brian Bieber, Yagalla's lawyer; Michelle Braun, Internet madam; Mike Degnan, FBI Special Agent; Attorney Eugene Licker; Linda Kim, jewelry collector and international weapons broker; Chris O'Connell, 48 HOURS investigative producer. On-screen graphics: The Los Angeles City Council has renewed a $75,000 reward for information leading to a conviction in this case. - 09/01/12 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "A Family's Honor" (10:00-11:00p) - In October of 2009, 20-year-old Noor Almaleki and Amal Khalaf, the mother of her boyfriend Marwan, walked out of a Peoria, Arizona DES office and were struck by an SUV driven by Noor's father and Iraqi immigrant, Faleh Hassan Almaleki. Detective Chris Boughey suspected this to be an "honor killing". Honor killing is a practice found in some cultures, that allows a father to kill his daughter if he believes she acted in a dishonorable or disrespectful way. Amal Khalaf survived; however, Noor died from her injuries. The Almaleki family had moved from Iraq to Arizona in the mid 1990's, and Faleh wanted his children to adhere to Iraqi traditions -- but Noor wanted to be a typical American girl. She had been brought back to Iraq to enter an arranged marriage when she was 17, but she left the marriage, returned to the United States, and eventually moved in with her boyfriend, Marwan Khalaf and his mother Amal. Noor's parents made numerous verbal threats to her to return home, but she refused. Soon afterwards, her father struck her with his SUV. Faleh fled the country, but was later apprehended in London, and returned to the United States. He claimed that hitting the two women was an accident, but evidence of incriminating tire marks at the scene and the fact that the vehicle had no brake problems, seemed to indicate otherwise. However, these facts and other incriminating evidence were not enough to convince a jury that Noor's father was guilty of first degree murder. Instead, the jury found Faleh guilty of the lesser charge of second-degree murder, meaning they did not agree the attack on Noor was premeditated, or an honor killing. Judge Roland Steinle sentenced Faleh to 34-and-a-half years in prison for killing Noor and gravely injuring Amal. On-Screen Graphics: While members of Noor's family were questioned about the crime, no one other than her father was charged. Interviewed: Peoria, Arizona Police Detective Chris Boughey; CBS News Consultant Abigail Pesta; Adhi, Noor's friend; Amal Khalaf, Noor's boyfriend's mother; Marwan Khalaf, Noor's boyfriend; Nuha, Noor's friend; Jasvinder Sanghera, founder, Karma Nirvana; Lina, Karma Nirvana caller; Laura Reckart, prosecutor; Elizabeth Mullins, defense attorney; Jeff Kirchler, defense attorney; Charles Cooper, witness; Shaneil Nakamoto, witness; Ali, Noor's brother. 48 HOURS MYSTERY (continued)

48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Shelley's Last Breath" - an investigation into the 1999 scuba diving death of Shelley Tyre while on vacation on the Caribbean isle of Tortola. Police questioned her husband and dive partner David Swain about every detail of the dive; autopsy results were inconclusive. Shelley, a school principal who, in the early 1990s, had met and married David Swain, a divorced father of two, who ran a dive shop, was an adventurous woman who couldn't care less about money. Her parents insisted on a pre-nuptial agreement and David Swain agreed he would receive no money if they divorced. With her death, he collected more than $600,000 from her estate. What her parents could not understand was Swain's lack of emotion regarding Shelley's death. He explained that he didn't know had happened to Shelley during the dive. Although divers are supposed to swim in pairs, she was diving alone – he had gone elsewhere in the water. One year after her death, her parents hired an attorney and sent him and his team of experts to Tortola to investigate. After several months, they uncovered evidence which they believed proved David Swain was lying. 48 HOURS hired an underwater forensic expert to examine the evidence; he also concluded that it was much more than a diving accident. Her parents believed that Shelley's decision to change jobs and take a substantial pay cut may have been the motive for murder. In 2006, they sued David Swain in civil court for wrongful death and won. Armed with this, the Tyres persuaded the authorities in Tortola to re-open the case: island prosecutors charged Swain with the murder of his wife. Ten years after Shelley's death and after two years in a Tortola prison, the trial began. Certain information about David Swain became public during the trial – his father had been convicted of sexual abuse and sent to prison. His mother was bludgeoned to death by his brother, Richard. This information, along with testimony from his children and ex-wife was used to explain his behavior. In the end, David Swain was found guilty of murder and sentenced to life in prison. Update for this 01/21/12 rebroadcast: In September 2011, a three-judge panel overturned David Swain's guilty verdict and he was released from prison. Updated on-screen graphics: In December, David Swain was arrested and charged with drunk driving. If convicted, he could face up to a year in prison. Swain has never paid the Tyre family the 3.5 million in damages from the 2006 wrongful death judgement. With interest, it's now more than 8 million. Interviewed: David Swain; Jen Bloom and Jeremy Swain, David's children; Richard and Lisa Tyre, Shelley's parents; Don Badger, Shelley's co-worker; John Langella, David's friend and fellow scuba instructor; Sandy Wheeler, David's ex-wife; Jeff Morgan, San Bernardino, California Sheriff's Department; Keith Royle, dive boat captain; Bill Oliver, scuba gear designer; Neil Tassel and Tim Bradl, David's defense attorneys; Jim Erickson, former Minneapolis assistant district attorney; Hayden St. Clair Douglas, local counsel working with David's defense team. 48 HOURS MYSTERY (continued)

48 HOURS SPECIAL PRESENTATION: "Vanity Fair: Hollywood Scandal" - a trio of investigations presented by staff writers of Vanity Fair magazine. 1) "Natalie Wood's Fatal Voyage" - Sam Kashner reports on the just re-opened case of actress Natalie Wood's death by drowning. This past weekend, after thirty years of rumors, the Los Angeles police department has re-opened the investigation. On Thanksgiving weekend in 1981, Natalie Wood, her husband Robert Wagner and Christopher Walken, her co-star in her latest film, were boating off of the coast of Catalina Island, on Wagner's vessel, the Splendour. Hours later, Wood's body was found floating in the Pacific Ocean. An investigation found no suggestion of foul play and it was ruled an accidental drowning. Now, based on new information, the police have re-opened the case. Interviewed are: Dennis Davern, the captain of the boat, who now admits that he lied to police about that night; Marti Rulli, a longtime friend of Davern's who has spent thirty years investigating the death; Mart Crowley, a close personal friend of Natalie Wood and Robert Wagner; Marilyn Wayne, who was on a nearby boat that night; Detective Duane Rasure, the original investigator on the case. In a written statement, the Wagner family says that it supports the investigation and trust the new information will be judged on the credibility of the source. Update for the 09/15/12 rebroadcast includes interviews with Steve Whitmore, spokesman for the Los Angeles Sheriff's Department; Suzanne Finstad, Natalie Wood's biographer; Los Angeles Sheriff's Department Lieutenant John Corina; and Ron Nelson, current owner of the Splendour. 2) "The Gangster and The Goddess" - Patricia Bosworth reports on the 1958 stabbing death of gangster Johnny Stompanato. Actress Lana Turner was a much-married, Academy Award-nominated actress who became involved with Stompanato, not knowing he was gangster Mickey Cohen's bodyguard. She tried to break off the relationship, and during an argument between the two at her Beverly Hills home, he was stabbed to death by her daughter Cheryl Crane. Crane was charged with murder, put on trial and the event was eventually ruled a justifiable homicide. Turner continued her career and died at age 75, though many still believe that Turner was the one who did the stabbing. Today, Cheryl Crane writes murder mysteries. Interviewed are: Cheryl Crane, Turner's daughter; Hollywood producer George Schlatter; John Ibrahim, the son of Johnny Stompanato, who doubts the official account of the crime; Eric Root, hairdresser to the stars, who says that Turner admitted to him that she did it. 3) "The Miranda Obsession" - Bryan Burrough reports on Miranda Grosvenor, a woman who for the past forty years was known to have befriended, over the telephone, dozens of Hollywood actors, directors, rock stars and politicians. Self-described as a leggy, beautiful blonde, she was viewed as something of a muse to many of these powerful men. Writer Buck Henry was one of those who became a friend, and after a time he realized she was misrepresenting herself. Music producer Richard Perry became obsessed with her and demanded to meet her. When he did, in a darkened hotel room in New York City, it was clear she was not the person she was presented herself to be. He soon ended the relationship. Whoever she was, she was not a stalker -- she just called people on the phone and developed ongoing telephone relationships. For the first time since Burrough located her twelve years ago, she agreed to an interview, with the understanding that her real name not be revealed. Featured are interviews with Buck Henry; Richard Perry; and Miranda Grosvenor. Special correspondents for this 48 HOURS SPECIAL PRESENTATION: Sam Kashner, author, "Natalie Wood's Fatal Voyage", Vanity Fair; Patricia Bosworth, author, "The Gangster and The Goddess", Vanity Fair; and Bryan Burrough, author, "The Miranda Obsession", Vanity Fair. 48 HOURS MYSTERY (continued)

- 09/22/12 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Fatal Episode: The Producer's Story" - a report on former reality show producer Bruce Beresford-Redman, who is accused of murdering his wife Monica Burgos, while on a 2010 vacation with their two children in Cancun, Mexico. Bruce and Monica's marriage was in trouble and the vacation at the Moon palace Hotel was seen as a last attempt to save it. Monica never returned to the hotel after her solo shopping trip. Two days later, Mexican police found her body in a hotel sewer pit. Mexican authorities had Bruce's passport, but he made his way back to California, using his license to re-enter the U.S. via Texas. Seven months later he was arrested for the murder, and was extradited to Mexico to face murder charges. He is currently being held in El Cerezo Correctional Facility, awaiting trial. In his only interview from prison, conducted via cell phone, Beresford-Redman talks about his wife Monica and discusses the details of his case. On Screen Text Graphics: Monica Beresford-Redman's sisters will be in a Los Angeles court April 2nd asking a judge to remove Bruce's parents as permanent guardians for the children and appoint them instead. Monica Beresford-Redman was brought back to Los Angeles by her sisters, where she was buried. The update for the 09/22/12 rebroadcast includes Troy Roberts' phone interview with an incarcerated Beresford-Redman and a Skype interview with his attorney, Jaime Cancino. Both profess Beresford-Redman's innocence. Monica's sisters have petitioned the court to be appointed the children's guardians and that hearing is scheduled for November. Updated on-screen text graphic for the 09/22/12 rebroadcast: There is no jury in this trial. A single judge will decide his fate. Includes interviews with: Juanita and David Beresford-Redman, Bruce's parents; Jeane and Carla Burgos, sisters of Monica Burgos; Jaime Cancino, Bruce's attorney in Mexico; Jeff Wald, Producer; Jen Heger, Radar Online reporter; Richard Hirsch, Bruce's Lawyer; Karen and Eric Hamilton, couple who were married at the Moon Palace Hotel; Emily Hamilton, Eric's sister, who was assaulted by a hotel employee at the Moon Palace Hotel; Dave Howard, Emily's step-father; Alison Triessl, attorney representing Monica's sisters. - 09/29/12 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "My Dad's Killer" - A followup to "Haunted" (OAD: 10/24/09), a report on the July 2002 murder of Mike Sisco and his fiancée Karen Harkness, shot to death in Karen's Topeka, Kansas home. The police investigation ultimately focussed on Dana Chandler, Mike's ex-wife and the mother of his two children, Hailey and Dustin. In 2009, after the appointment of a new District Attorney, the Harkness-Sisco case became a priority. Ten years after the murders and eight months after Dana Chandler's arrest, the case went to trial. Lacking physical evidence, the prosecution hoped to convict Chandler with her own words, using jailhouse telephone calls recorded between Chandler and her sister; and her lack of an alibi, as she had told two different stories about her whereabouts on the night in question. Hailey and Dustin Sisco also became star witnesses against their mother, detailing her obsessions with their father and Karen Harkness. The case went to the jury and after approximately ninety minutes of deliberation, Dana Chandler was found guilty of two counts of first-degree murder. Five months after the verdict, six members of the Sisco and Harkness families see Dana Chandler one more time. She is given two life sentences, one for killing Mike Sisco and one for killing Karen Harkness. On-screen text graphic: Dana Chandler must serve 100 years before she can ask for parole. Interviewed: Hailey Sisco and Dustin Sisco, children of Dana Chandler and Mike Sisco; Jacquie Spradling, Chief Deputy District Attorney; Mark and Cathy Boots, Mike Sisco's sister and her brother-in-law; Chad Taylor, District Attorney; Mark Bennett, Chandler's attorney. CBS RELIGIOUS AND CULTURAL SPECIAL

- 09/16/12 "Food, Faith & Culture" - a report on the relationship between food and faith in three world religions: Judaism, Islam, and Sikhism. Topics include: (1) Kosher food laws stem from the Old Testament, or Torah, which lay out what observant Jews can and cannot eat. Pardes is an innovative kosher restaurant located in the Boerum Hill section of Brooklyn, New York. Opened in 2010 by the husband-and-wife team Moshe and Shana Wendel, Pardes serves kosher French food with a twist of Americana, a reflection of Chef Wendel's training at well-regarded French restaurants. (2) For practicing Muslims everywhere there is a mandate to eat halal, or pure foods ordained for mankind by Allah (God) as written in the Qu'ran and Hadith, the holy books of Islam. Yvonne Maffei is a food writer, cook, and founder of My Halal Kitchen.com, a site which allows her to share halal-friendly recipes and to help dispel myths around eating in accordance with Islamic law. (3) Within any Gurdwara or Sikh house of worship exists a langar, or common kitchen, where freshly prepared vegetarian food is served twice a day, seven days a week. All of the food is free and prepared by volunteers who chop, cook and serve the meals. This tradition dates back to the 15th century, when the religion was founded by Guru Nanak. At the langar at the Sikh Cultural Society in Queens, NY, the oldest and largest Gurdwara on the East Coast, Harpreet Singh Toor, one of the Gurdwara's leaders, discusses the tradition and how serving others is a central tenet of the faith. NAVY SEAL WHO WAS IN THE ROOM WHEN OSAMA BIN LADEN WAS KILLED
SAYS HIS BOOK IS NOT POLITICAL, BUT TIMED TO COMMEMORATE THE 9/11 ANNIVERSARY AND HONOR THE MANY PEOPLE WHO MADE THE RAID POSSIBLE

Retired SEAL TEAM 6 Member Speaks in his First Interview Sept. 9 on 60 MINUTES, Excerpts to Appear Tonight on the CBS EVENING NEWS WITH SCOTT PELLEY

A retired Navy SEAL who was present at the killing of Osama bin Laden tells Scott Pelley in a 60 MINUTES interview that his book about the raid is not a political statement, rather it is timed to commemorate the 9/11 attack and give credit to the hundreds of people whose work made the mission a success. The former SEAL TEAM-6 member, who uses the pseudonym Mark Owen, will appear in his first interview on 60 MINUTES, Sunday Sept. 9 (7:00-8:00 PM, ET/PT) on the CBS Television Network. Excerpts from the interview will appear tonight (29) on the CBS EVENING NEWS WITH SCOTT PELLEY.

As a security measure, CBS News will not identify "Owen" in any reports about his account of the raid; his face and voice were disguised for his 60 MINUTES interview. His book about the raid, "No Easy Day," will be available next week. Following is an excerpt to appear tonight. Please credit 60 MINUTES:

SCOTT PELLEY NARRATION

HE CALLS HIMSELF MARK OWEN. THAT'S NOT HIS REAL NAME. WE'VE DISGUISED HIM AND WILL KEEP HIS NAME CONFIDENTIAL FOR HIS OWN SAFETY. OWEN WAS ON THE HELICOPTER THAT CRASHED IN BIN LADEN'S COMPOUND. HE WAS THE SECOND MAN IN THE ROOM WHEN BIN LADEN WAS SHOT, HE TOOK THE PHOTOGRAPHS OF THE BODY THAT WERE NEVER RELEASED. BUT OWEN TOLD US THE STORY IS NOT ABOUT HIM—IT'S THE STORY OF HUNDREDS OF AMERICANS WHO SPENT YEARS GATHERING INTELLIGENCE, PLANNING AND TRAINING—OF THE SEALS, OWEN SAYS, "WE JUST TOOK CARE OF THE LAST 40 MINUTES.”

WE BUILT, WHAT WE BELIEVE, IS THE MOST ACCURATE MODEL OF BIN LADEN’S COMPOUND EVER CONSTRUCTED. OWEN TOLD US, BEFORE THE MISSION, A FULL SIZE REPLICA OF THE COMPOUND WAS BUILT IN THE UNITED STATES FOR TRAINING AND THERE WAS A DRESS REHEARSAL FOR THE TOP BRASS INCLUDING THE CHAIRMAN OF THE JOINT CHIEFS, ADMIRAL MIKE MULLEN, AND ADMIRAL ERIC OLSEN HEAD OF SPECIAL OPERATIONS COMMAND.

(PELLEY) How did that rehearsal go?

(OWEN) It was fine. this is nothing new to us. The part that was new was all the VIPs sitting there watching. One of the things that I like after the fact was-- I remember Admiral Mullen coming by and talking to each one of us and then Admiral Olsen as well. And I thought that was cool that, you know, they walked by, shook each of our hands, and said, "Hey, are you guys ready? Can you guys pull this off?" And I'm pretty sure to a man we all said, yes, absolutely.

(PELLEY) How long was it before you got the call to go?

(OWEN) We had a week off in Virginia Beach. And when I say "off," it I wasn't completely. But we had a week-- a week off at home-- conducted one more rehearsal, day of training on the on the life-size mock up. And then we got the word that we were going.

OWEN’S BOOK WAS TO BE RELEASED ON THE ANNIVERSARY OF 9/11, BUT THE RELEASE HAS BEEN MOVED UP TO NEXT WEEK. THERE’S BEEN CRITICISM THAT THE BOOK IS TIMED TO INFLUENCE THE ELECTION.

(OWEN) My worry from the beginning is, you know, it's a political season. This book is not political whatsoever. It doesn't bad mouth either party, and we specifically chose September 11th to keep it out of the politics. You know, if these-- crazies on either side of the aisle want to make it political, shame on them. This is a book about September 11th, and it needs to rest on September 11th. Not be brought into the political arena, because this-- this has nothing to do with politics.

NAVY SEAL TELLS SCOTT PELLELY THAT THE RAID ON OSAMA BIN LADEN WAS TO CAPTURE HIM,
"NOT A KILL ONLY" MISSION

Retired SEAL TEAM-6 Author of a First-Hand Account of Bin Laden Raid Speaks in his first Interview
Sun. Sept. 9 on "60 MINUTES" - Excerpts Tonight on the "CBS EVENING NEWS"

Navy SEALs assaulting Osama Bin Laden's compound were told to capture the Qaeda leader if possible, says the retired member of SEAL-TEAM 6 who has written a book about his role in the daring raid. The mission was "not a kill only" operation, says the former commando, who uses the pseudonym "Mark Owen," in a 60 MINUTES interview with Scott Pelley to be broadcast Sunday, Sept. 9 (7:00-8:00 PM, ET/PT) on the CBS Television Network. Excerpts from the interview, in which he also describes the crash-landing of his helicopter in the compound's yard, will appear tonight (4) on the CBS EVENING NEWS WITH SCOTT PELLELY (6:30-7:00 ET/PT) on the CBS Television Network..

CBS News will not identify "Owen" for security reasons. A make-up artist was employed to disguise his appearance and sound manipulation was used to mask his real voice for his 60 MINUTES interview. His book, "No Easy Day," went on sale today. Below is an excerpt to appear tonight, please credit 60 MINUTES:

PELLEY : Was the plan to kill Osama bin Laden or capture him, before you went in?

OWEN: This was absolutely not a kill-only mission. It was made very clear to us-- throughout our training for this that,
"Hey, if given the opportunity, this is-- this is not an assassination. You will capture him alive... if feasible."

PELLEY : That was the preferred thing?

OWEN : Yes.

PELLEY : To take him alive, if you could?

OWEN: Yeah, yeah. I mean, we're not-- we're not there to assassinate somebody. We weren't sent in to-- to murder him. This was, "Hey, kill or capture."

(MAP GRAPHIC)

THEY WOULD FLY FROM AFGHANISTAN IN TWO MODIFIED BLACKHAWK HELICOPTERS TO BIN LADEN'S COMPOUND IN ABBOTTABAD, PAKISTAN. PAKISTAN DIDN'T KNOW THEY WERE COMING SO THE HELICOPTERS, FLOWN BY THE ARMY'S 160TH SPECIAL OPERATIONS AVIATION REGIMENT, FLEW AT TREE TOP LEVEL ON A MOONLESS NIGHT TO AVOID PAKISTANI AIR DEFENSES. THEY REACHED THE TARGET AND PREPARED TO SLIDE DOWN ROPES INTO THE COMPOUND-- WHEN EVERYTHING WENT WRONG IN OWEN'S CHOPPER.

OWEN: And then, all of a sudden, we banked hard 90°, and then we-- once we went hard 90-- it was very apparent that some-- something was wrong.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE DOWNDRAFT HITTING THE COMPLEX OF WALLS BELOW CAUSED THE HEAVILY LOADED HELICOPTER TO FALTER IN THE AIR.

OWEN: These pilots are the best in the world. You don't...get better than these guys. And-- typically they just, boom, they move right in and they stick it. It-- was like parking a car for these guys. And...it was-- it was a rough-- it was a rough ride. So something was obviously going on.

OWEN: Tail rotor and everything happened to miss this wall here. And then we were just kind of sliding and falling out of the sky this way. At this point, I was pretty sure we're... definitely going in.

PELLEY: Going to crash?

MARK OWEN: yeah

PELLEY : As the helicopter is going down, what were you thinking?

OWEN: "This is going to suck." You know? "Hey, wow."

Republican Challenger and President Obama to Answer Questions on the Election's Biggest Issues in Separate Interviews on September 23

Mitt Romney says his campaign for president doesn't need a turnaround and that he's keeping up with President Obama in the polls, despite criticism generated by a recently revealed tape of him referring to the 47 percent of Americans who don't pay taxes. The Republican presidential candidate talked with Scott Pelley in a 60 MINUTES interview to be broadcast Sunday, Sept. 23 (7:00-8:00 PM, ET/PT) on the CBS Television Network. An excerpt from the interview will be broadcast on the CBS EVENING NEWS Tonight (21) (6:30-7:00 PM, ET/PT) on the CBS Television Network.

Pelley's interview with Romney is part of a 60 MINUTES focus on the 2012 Presidential Campaign. President Obama will also appear on 60 MINUTES Sunday in a separate interview with Steve Kroft.

A transcript of the excerpt follows, please credit 60 MINUTES:

SCOTT PELLEY: You are slipping in the polls at this moment. A lot of Republicans are concerned about this campaign. You bill yourself as a turnaround artist. How are you going to turn this campaign around?

MITT ROMNEY: Well, actually, we're tied in the polls. We're all within the margin of error. We bounce around-- week to week-- day to day. There are some days we're up. There are some days we're down. We go forward with my message, that this is a time to reinvigorate the American economy, not by expanding government and raising taxes on people, but instead by making sure government encourages entrepreneurship and innovation and gets the private sector hiring again.

SCOTT PELLEY: Governor, I appreciate your message very much. But that wasn't precisely the question. You're the CEO of this campaign. A lot of Republicans would like to know, a lot of your donors would like to know, how do you turn this thing around? You've got a little more than six weeks. What do you do?

MITT ROMNEY: Well, it doesn't need a turnaround. We've got a campaign which is tied with an incumbent President to the United States.

SCOTT PELLEY: Well-- as you know, a lot of people were concerned about the video of the fundraiser in which you talked about the 47 percent of the American people who don't pay taxes. Peggy Noonan, a very well-known conservative columnist, said that it was an example of this campaign being incompetent. And I wonder if any of that criticism gets through to you and-- and whether you're concerned about it at all, whether--

MITT ROMNEY: Well, that's not--

SCOTT PELLEY: the concerns of Republicans--

MITT ROMNEY: That's not...that's not the campaign. That was me, right? I-- that's not a campaign.

SCOTT PELLEY: You are the campaign--

MITT ROMNEY: I've got-- I've got a very effective campaign. It's doing a very good job.

But not everything I say is elegant. And-- and I want to make it very clear, I want to help 100 percent of the American people.

ARNOLD SCHWARZENEGGER TELLS "60 MINUTES" THE AFFAIR WITH HIS HOUSEKEEPER WAS THE "STUPIDEST THING" HE EVER DID TO HIS WIFE MARIA SHRIVER – SUNDAY ON CBS

Former California Governor Speaks Frankly to Lesley Stahl in His First Interview since the Affair that Bore a Secret Child Was Revealed

In his first interview since it was revealed that he had a secret child with his housekeeper, Arnold Schwarzenegger tells Lesley Stahl that the affair with Mildred Baena was "the stupidest thing" he ever did to his wife, Maria Shriver. The interview with Schwarzenegger will be broadcast on the 45th Season Premiere of 60 MINUTES, Sunday, Sept. 30 (7:00-8:00 PM, ET/PT) on the CBS Television Network.

Stahl reminds him in the interview how Shriver had given up her career for him. "She gave up her television career for you. I mean, wow! Was this just the most unbelievable act of betrayal to Maria?" Schwarzenegger replies, "I think it was the stupidest thing I've done in the whole relationship. It was terrible. I inflicted tremendous pain on Maria and unbelievable pain on the kids." Watch the clip.

The former Governor of California has written an autobiography titled, "Total Recall: My Unbelievably True Life," in which he notes the affair that resulted in a son named Joseph and writes of another affair he has had outside of his relationship to Shriver. Shriver would not comment to 60 MINUTES about the interview or the book, which Schwarzenegger says she has not read.

"She knows that it's about my whole life and that I would not write a book and kind of leave out that part and make people feel like, 'Well, wait a minute. Are we just getting a book about his success stories and not talk about his failures?... I wanted to write a book about me,'" says the former body builder and action film star who once held

the title "Mr. Universe."

The book, out Monday (1) from Simon & Schuster, a company owned by CBS, traces Schwarzenegger's whole life, from poor early years in Austria, to his rise to the top in America in bodybuilding, Hollywood and politics. Stahl also accompanies him back to Thal, Austria, to visit his childhood home.

Former Rep. Governor of California also says Karl Rove Dismissed his Gubernatorial Ambitions and that he Still hasn't Decided Between Obama or Romney

Arnold Schwarzenegger tells Lesley Stahl he performed two same-sex marriage ceremonies while he was the Republican governor of California. He also says top Republican political advisor Karl Rove once dismissed

Schwarzenegger will appear in his first interview since it was revealed he had a secret child with his housekeeper

Below is the transcript from 60Minutes.com Web Extras. :

Karl Rove Dismisses His Gubenertorial Ambition<http://www.cbsnews.com/video/watch/?id=7423810n>

STAHL: The sitting governor, Gray Davis-- is facing a recall and you decide that maybe you can run for governor.

And you go to Washington-- you go to the White House, and you see Karl Rove, the President's advisor. And what did he tell you?

SCHWARZENEGGER: Karl Rove, I always admired because I mean he is the guy that was really the brain behind Bush's election and then reelection. So when we had this after-school program summit in Washington, which we did together with the White House-- I felt like since I'm going already to the White House and have a meeting, I should also meet Karl Rove and chat a little bit to him about The idea that there might be a recall coming up in California, what do you think about that idea? And-- he was dismissive about it. He said California, first, was crazy. People are crazy. They don't know what they want. And-- you know, it is a thing which (LAUGH) California has a lot of times, you know.

STAHL: Proving he was smart, right.

SCHWARZENEGGER: So he says-- it will never happen. They talk about it-- so many times in the past have they talked about unseating this governor that I don't think it would happen. And he said, "But if you have an interest, which I think you do, in the governorship of California, and if you're-- you're asking me because of that," he says, "2006 is the time when you should run. That is the year you should run." He says, "As a matter of fact, hold on a second-- oh (LAUGH) it's great-- there's someone that maybe wants to meet you downstairs. Do you want to come downstairs?" And I said, "Sure. Who is that?" He says, "It's a surprise." So we go downstairs. Who comes from the Oval Office down the hallway, was Condoleezza Rice. And-- Karl Rove now goes (LAUGH)-- he says, "Hi, Condi, how are you," and kiss, kiss, kiss, hug, hug, hug. And he says, "You know Arnold, right?" And she says, "Of course I know Arnold. Yeah, hi, it's nice to meet you." And he says, "Now, Arnold, look at her carefully. This will be a candidate that will be running for governor in 2006. This who-- is who we are betting on." there's many ways of-- you can take it. I mean I-- I-- it-- there was a funny part about--

STAHL: How did you take it?

SCHWARZENEGGER: -the whole thing.

STAHL: At the time?

SCHWARZENEGGER: I took it that I think that-- naturally as always, people underestimate you. And-- that actually I can take this to my advantage, use it to my advantage.

STAHL: He was dismissing you.

SCHWARZENEGGER: And I felt that he was dismissive.

STAHL: Yes.

SCHWARZENEGGER: And-- dismissive of the recall--

STAHL: Did that motivate you?

SCHWARZENEGGER: it was an energizer beyond belief, (LAUGH) as always those things are.

EXTRA: Gay marriage<http://www.cbsnews.com/video/watch/?id=7423806n>

STAHL: gay marriage. You for gay marriage?

SCHWARZENEGGER: I always said that I have nothing against people doing what they want to do. If they-- if the-- a couple wants to get married, they should get married. I personally always said that marriage is between a man and a woman, but I would never enforce my will on people. I always want people to make that decision. If they want to get married, let them get married.

STAHL: You had a chief of staff-- Susan Kennedy.

SCHWARZENEGGER: Uh-huh (AFFIRM).

STAHL: You-- even called her I think-- this is a quote, "A cigar smoking lesbian," you once said. And she got married. Did you go to the wedding?

SCHWARZENEGGER: I performed the wedding in the office.

STAHL: You married--

SCHWARZENEGGER: I married her in the office-- in the governor's office.

STAHL: then you must be for gay marriage.

SCHWARZENEGGER: I don't have to be for gay marriage. I'm for that she gets the kind of wedding and the kind of ceremony that I had when I got married with Maria. That she happens to love a woman, and I am-- a guy that loves a woman, that is two different things. It doesn't make any difference. She should still have her ceremony.

STAHL: Did you marry any other gay couples?

SCHWARZENEGGER: Yes, one other assistant that worked for me. I married them right here in this office.

STAHL: Okay. I didn't know that. Did you know-- did-- STAHL: Let's talk politics for a minute, 'cause we're right in the midst of this election. Who are you leaning toward?

How are you going to vote for: Obama, or Romney?

SCHWARZENEGGER: Well, I will tell you when we get closer to the election.

STAHL: You haven't decided?

SCHWARZENEGGER: No.

STAHL: Really? You're a republican. One would think you would've decided to go with Romney. What-- why haven't you decided?

SCHWARZENEGGER: Well, because I always wait until the time to vote, because I think that the real campaign starts now. --Because everyone has negatives, and everyone has positives. And I just keep an open mind—

STAHL: Let me ask you a serious question. Have you ever given serious thought to leaving the republican party?

SCHWARZENEGGER: --no. I've never--

STAHL: Never?

SCHWARZENEGGER: --Never thought about leaving the Republican party.

I believe in "love it, or change it" rather than "love it, or leave it." I never will leave the republican party.

BARACK OBAMA: The mistake of my first term – couple of years – was thinking that this job was just about getting the policy right. And that's important. But the nature of this office is also to tell a story to the American people that gives them a sense of unity and purpose and optimism, especially during tough times. It's funny when I ran everybody said, 'well he can give a good speech, but can he actually manage the job?' And in my first two years, I think the notion was, 'well, he's been juggling and managing a lot of stuff, but where's the story that tells us where he's going?' And I think that was a legitimate criticism. So, getting out of this town, spending more time with the American people, listening to them and also then being in a conversation with them about where do we go together as a country, I need to do a better job of that in my second term.

CHARLIE ROSE: A better job of explaining?

BARACK OBAMA: Yeah. Well, explaining but also inspiring.

GOING SOLO - Greta Garbo was famous for saying she wanted to be left alone. These days she'd have company as more and more Americans are living alone and finding their own "islands" in society. Susan Spencer explores the reasons why 32.7 million Americans are choosing to go solo.

THE QUIET ZONE – The FCC in 1958 deemed a 13,000-square-mile swath of West Virginia to be radio-signal free to protect The National Radio Astronomy Observatory from interference. That means there are no cell phone towers and no home wireless networks. Richard Schlesinger enters the zone to find out what life is like without the comforts of wireless service.

WHISTLE STOP – On the Canary Islands off the coast of Africa, many of the natives speak El Silbo, a unique whistling language. Correspondent Tracy Smith takes us through the hills and valleys of the Canaries where whistling definitely is not just for the birds.

ALL DRESSED UP – Who whipped up the famed Thousand Island dressing? Martha Teichner went to the source, the actual Thousand Islands, where a couple of rivals stake a claim to the secret recipe.

RE: LEGENDARY BROADCASTER VIN SCULLY SPEAKS WITH CBS SUNDAY MORNING SEP

ATTN: LISTING EDITORS

Sept. 13, 2012

AFTER SIX DECADES BEHIND THE MICROPHONE, LEGENDARY BROADCASTER
VIN SCULLY TELLS "CBS SUNDAY MORNING WITH CHARLES OSGOOD" HE STILL GETS GOOSEBUMPS ON THE JOB

SCULLY TELLS LEE COWAN: "THERE'S NO WAY I COULD SAY GOODBYE TO ALL OF THIS"

After more than six decades in the broadcast booth for the Dodgers, Vin Scully tells CBS SUNDAY
MORNING's Lee Cowan he still gets goosebumps doing the job.

"That's really the thermometer for my love affair, my fever," Scully tells Cowan in an interview airing
this weekend on CBS SUNDAY MORNING WITH CHARLES OSGOOD. "As long as I get the goosebumps, I know that I should be doing it."

Scully got his start fresh out of Fordham University when the Brooklyn Dodgers' play-by-play man Red Barber noticed he had talent. He's been part of the Dodgers since 1950. By the time he was 25, he was calling his first World Series – the youngest to ever do so. When the Dodgers left Brooklyn for Los Angeles, Scully went, too.

Scully talks about his career, the toll being part of a major league team takes on a family and his preparation. He doesn't practice any of his calls, he says.

"Gosh, no, no," he tells Cowan. "I would be scared to death of having something that I think was so precious, that I couldn't wait to get on the air, and I'd mess it up. No, what comes out good, bad or otherwise, it's not only me, it's me at the moment."

Scully is signed on for one more season behind the microphone – his 64th – though he can't imagine giving it up yet. "There's no way I could say goodbye to all of this," he tells Cowan. "Not yet, anyway.

In my heart, I just can't do it. Not yet."

Cowan's interview with Scully will air Sunday, Sept. 16 on CBS SUNDAY MORNING (9-10:30 AM, ET) on the CBS Television Network. Rand Morrison is the executive producer.

48 HOURS REVEALS AUDIO TAPES ON NATALIE WOOD DEATH - SAT SEP 15

RE: "48 HOURS" REVEALS AUDIO TAPES ON NATALIE WOOD DEATH - SAT SEP 15

ATTN: LISTING EDITORS

Sept. 13, 2012

"48 HOURS" REVEALS AUDIO TAPES AND A CAPTAIN WHO MAY HOLD THE CLUE TO THE DEATH OF HOLLYWOOD LEGEND NATALIE WOOD

"48 HOURS" HAS EXCLUSIVE FOOTAGE OF THE CAPTAIN'S RETURN TO THE SPLENDOUR WITH DETECTIVES

"48 HOURS PRESENTS VANITY FAIR: HOLLYWOOD SCANDAL," SATURDAY, SEPT. 15 (10:00 PM, ET/PT)

Since 1981, the drowning death of Hollywood star Natalie Wood has been surrounded in mystery. Now, as Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department Homicide detectives continue to investigate her death, 48 HOURS will reveal more evidence that raises additional questions about the official theory of what happened that fateful night.

CBS News 48 HOURS will reveal for the first time that Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department homicide detectives have visited the Splendour, the vessel where Wood was last seen alive, twice – the second time with the yacht's captain, Dennis Davern. 48 HOURS was the only news organization there when detectives combed through the ship – testing the various theories of what happened.

An updated edition of 48 HOURS PRESENTS VANITY FAIR: HOLLYWOOD SCANDAL includes the exclusive footage of police, along with Splendour captain Dennis Davern, returning to the boat he hadn't seen in three decades. Also revealed are audiotapes of Wood's sister, Lana, telling Wood biographer Suzanne Finstad what she says Davern told her about the incident in 1992. These tapes have never been heard publicly before.

Wood drowned off the coast of Catalina Island in California in November 1981 after she went missing from the Splendour. Also aboard that night were Davern, her husband, actor Robert Wagner, and her friend and fellow actor, Christopher Walken. Davern has changed the story he initially told investigators. He tells 48 HOURS that Wagner and Wood got in a terrible fight that carried out onto the deck.

In 2001, Finstad taped a conversation with Lana Wood, which she played for 48 HOURS. In the call, Lana Wood describes what she says Davern told her about her sister's last night. Lana Wood told Finstad, "He said that it appeared to him as though RJ shoved her away. She went overboard. Dennis panicked and RJ said, 'Leave her there, teach her a lesson.'" Wood also told Finstad that Davern believed it was an accident: "You know, [Wagner] didn't mean for her to drown. But he didn't run to her aid." Authorities have heard Finstad's tape, but aren't commenting.

Wood was found floating in the water wearing a red down jacket and flannel nightgown. After a two-week investigation the death was ruled an accident. In July 2012, the Los Angeles Coroner's office reclassified her death certificate from an accidental drowning to "drowning and other undetermined factors." The Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department classifies the investigation as "open."

The Natalie Wood investigation is part of a 48 HOURS and Vanity Fair special looking at Hollywood scandals that also features pieces on the 1958 stabbing death of Lana Turner's boyfriend Johnny Stompanato.

We're looking back at the caped crusader through his 70-plus years with film critics David Edelstein of CBS SUNDAY MORNING and New York magazine and Dana Stevens of Slate.com.

The Dish: Like father, like son. Although Marc “Forge” Forgione became a chef like his dad, Larry, he’s carved out his own culinary success. Forgione earned the title of Iron Chef and receiving Michelin stars in 2010, 2011 and 2012. Now, he’s serving up his ultimate surf and turf dish: chili lobster and a 28-day aged tomahawk rib-eye chop.

Snow Leopards in Afghanistan: The endangered species is making a comeback in the mountainous region of the war-torn country. We'll show you incredible images inside a den. John Bentley talks with David Lawson of the Wildlife Conservation Society about the snow leopards' rebound.

Drew Peterson Trial: The trial of Drew Peterson will get underway Tuesday when attorneys deliver their opening arguments. The former police officer is charged in the death of his third wife. His fourth wife is missing. Peterson introduced himself to potential jurors, and at least one of those jurors has admitted to watching a TV movie starring Rob Lowe as Peterson. Joel Brodsky, Peterson's defense attorney, joins us.

How I Blew My Cash Contest: Do you make frivolous purchases? Longtime investment company Charles Schwab asked Americans to confess their most regrettable purchases. We'll reveal their winner and give simple ways to beat your impulse buying.

Gun Violence: In the wake of the tragedy in Aurora, victims of the Tucson and Virginia Tech rampages are demanding a plan of action from President Obama and Mitt Romney to reduce gun violence. Five survivors impacted by the shootings join us in studio.

The Stars Are Out: To celebrate its 100th birthday, Paramount Pictures brought together 116 of its stars for a group photo. We'll talk to photographer Art Streiber about his incredible picture and take you behind the scenes of the historic shoot.

Dancing for Donations: In a story we first brought to viewers last summer, an Iowa farming community that was devastated by a flood must come up with as much as 5 million dollars to inspect and repair its levee. The small town's residents are appealing for donations in a flash mob dance video that's gone viral. We'll talk to Hamburg Mayor Cathy Crain about the plight and creative fundraiser.

Music in Prison: Some of the most hardened criminals at Sing Sing Prison are learning to replace their destructive behaviors with music. As part of Carnegie Hall's outreach program, select prisoners are playing instruments and writing songs with renowned artists. Seth Doane takes us inside the walls of the maximum security prison.

When Volcker Ruled: The Federal Reserve is taking aggressive steps to give the struggling economy a jolt. We'll ask Paul Volcker, an economist who has given financial advice to five U.S. presidents, about this third easing. Economist and professor William Silber's new book, "Volcker: The Triumph of Persistence," takes an in-depth look at Volcker's role in American economic history. Volcker and Silber will also discuss the slow recovery and lessons from the past.

Deadly Love Handles: A new study finds that love handles are deadlier than obesity. Researchers say it's not about the amount of fat, but where the fat is actually stored in the body. Dr. Michael Jensen of the Mayo Clinic joins us.

Will & Kate: Prince William and Kate Middleton are causing a stir on their whirlwind Pacific tour to commemorate the Queen's Diamond Jubilee, especially after talking about future children. CBS News Correspondent Seth Doane, who is traveling with the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge, will join us with the latest on the royals' trip.

Are They "Lovin' It"?: McDonald's will post calorie counts on its menu boards in 14,000 restaurants in the United States beginning next week. This is ahead of a federal menu-labeling requirement. It's also a marketing move for the food chain to showcase its healthy options. We'll talk about what this means for the burger giant, as well as consumers.

Saving the Titanic: Dr. Robert Ballard, the famed oceanographer who discovered R.M.S. Titanic's wreckage in 1985, joins us to talk about his crusade to save the 'Unsinkable Ship' from treasure hunters, as well as his new underwater adventure exploring the deep ocean as part of National Geographic Channel's "Alien Deep."

From the Vault: We're going into the CBS News vault for an Edward R. Murrow interview with Eleanor Roosevelt. On January 22, 1954, the former first lady, who just returned from a trip around the world, allowed Person to Person cameras into her New York City duplex apartment on East 62nd Street. Although in her late sixties, Roosevelt continued a life of activism on behalf of the United Nations and wrote a newspaper column.

Good Deed or Trespassing?: A Philadelphia man is in trouble with city officials after spending $20,000 of his own money to clean up a lot filled with 40 bags of trash and weeds that was a neighborhood eyesore next to his business. He says he grew tired after years of complaints to authorities. The city says Ori Feibush trespassed and is threatening legal action. Feibush joins us to discuss the situation.

If the Shoe Fits: A Winnipeg bus driver's random act of kindness recently brought passengers to tears. After seeing a barefoot man on the chilly street, Kristian Doubledde pulled over the bus, took off his own shoes and gave them to a homeless man. He then boarded the bus and continued on his route in socks. Passengers said there wasn't a dry eye on the bus. We'll talk to Kristian Doubledde and Winnipeg Mayor Sam Katz about the compassionate act that is inspiring others around the world.

Practice Retirement: Before retiring, you should practice retirement. That means you continue to work into your sixties while you begin participating in activities that you would have waited to do until fully retired. Practicing retirement helps pre-retirees transition to full retirement. We'll go over the benefits and drawbacks with Senior Financial Planner Christine Fahlund of T. Rowe Price for those considering leaping into a life of leisure.

Why We Crave: If you're craving a cupcake, should you eat it? What about a steak? Does it mean your body needs more iron? Psychiatrist and best-selling author Dr. Daniel Amen will join us to discuss the latest research on why women actually have more cravings than men, how those cravings affect the brain like drugs, whether you should

listen to your cravings and how to fend off urges for unhealthy food.

Flying High: America's longest-serving flight attendant and one of the first male "stewards" in the airline industry has just hung up his wings after 63 years with United and 20 million miles. We'll reminisce with Guinness World Record's holder Ron Akana and his wife, Elizabeth, also a former flight attendant, about Ron's historic career, including hanging out with Burt Lancaster and the rest of the all-star cast of "From Here to Eternity," as well as meeting two U.S. presidents.

Sleep Deprivation: You may want to think twice before skipping those extra hours of sleep during the week and trying to make up for them by sleeping in on the weekend. Three startling new studies show the damaging effects of sleep deprivation on the body and mind. We'll discuss with "The Sleep Doctor" Michael Breus, a clinical psychologist at the American Board of Sleep Medicine.

Taken with Famke: Actress Famke Janssen is back on the big screen in "Taken 2" with Liam Neeson. We'll talk to her about the highly-anticipated sequel, as well as the 50th anniversary of the James Bond franchise. She had the honor of playing Bond Girl Xenia Onatopp in GoldenEye and comic book hero Jean Grey/Phoenix in the X-Men series.

And the Award Goes To...: The 64th Annual Primetime Emmy Awards will be handed out Sunday night. Jessica Shaw, Entertainment Weekly senior writer, unveils her picks of who should win and who she thinks will actually win, as well as possible upsets. Plus, we'll show you how one celebrity, not even up for an Emmy, is getting a lot of attention with her perfect Emmy speech.

The Dish with Celebrity Chef Mike Lata: He's the chef and partner of FIG restaurant and the soon-to-open The Ordinary restaurant in Charleston, South Carolina. The self-taught chef is also an award-winner having walked away with the James Beard Best Chef: Southeast award in 2009. Lata also reportedly just catered the wedding of Ryan Reynolds and Blake Lively. Lata will prepare his ultimate dish: baked black bass with clams.
